Concerning the Raising the Bronze Statu to Chief Justice Marshall.

We sre glad to see you, John Marshall, my boy, So fresh from the chisel of Rogers!
Go take your stand on the Monument there, Along with the other old co. gers:
With Washington, Jefferson, Henry and such, Who sinned with a great transgression.
In their old-hashioned notions of Freedom and Right, And their hatred of wrong and oppression!
You come rather late to your pedestal, John, For sooner you should have been here;
For the volume you hold is no longer the law, And this is no longer Virginia.
The old Marshall-law you expounded of yore, Is now not at all to the purpose; And the martial-law of the new Brigadier, Is stronger than habeas corpus.
So keep you the volume slut with care, For the days of the law are over; And it needs all your brass to be holding it there, With "Justice" inscribed on the cover, Could life awaken the limb of bronze And blaze in the burnished eye,

could he swaken the him of bronze And blaze in the burnished eye,
What would ye do with your moment of life, Ye men of the days gone by!
Would ye chide us or pity us, blush or weep. Would ye chide us or pity us, bush or weep.

Ye men of the days gone by?

Would Jeffson tear up the scroll he holds,

That time I is proven a lie?

And Marshall shut the volume of law

And lay it down with a sigh?
Would Mason roll up the Bill of Rights, Would Mason roll up the bill of Rights,
From a race unworthy to scan it?
And Henry dash down the eloquent sword,
And clang it against the granite?
And Washington, seated in massy strength
On the charger that paws the air,
Could he see his sons in their deep disgrace,
Would be ride as roundly there? Would he ride so proudly there? He would get him down from his big brass horse And cover his face at our shame; For the land of his birth is now "District One"—

OUR FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.

BERLIN, March 6, 1867 .- The Fourth of March, a day of note in the American calendar. bids fair to become such in the annals of Modern Germany. The greatest Minister of the age, Count BISMARCE, rose day before yesterday in the Parliament and presented the new Constitution for discussion and ratification by that body. He made a long and effective speech, passing in rapid review the history of the old German Empire, the everts that led to its decline and final dissolution, the half century that has since elapsed, adverting to the leading features that were influential in moulding its destiny, and by insensible degrees led to the events that have resulted in the glorious consummation now before the German people. He seemed much moved by the grandeur of his subject, and was throughout listened to with the utmost attention and admiration. Count BISMARCK is not an orator, nor a fine debater, in the usual sense of that word. His speeches show little trace of learning or literary finish, but they possess a charm greater than meretricious ornament or any other factitious attraction. His utterances commend themselves by their earnestness. He strikes you as strictly a man of business, slow and cautious in maturing a plan, but bold and fearless in its advocacy once he is convinced of its necessity or expediency. And for these reasons, and because of his undoubted patriotism, he is respected by all, even his ultra Liberal opponents. In his speech he referred to the address of the King at the recent opening of the Parlia-

April 6.—Cotton.—A moderate inquiry prevailed in the cotton market to-day, on the basis of 25½ cents for low middling and 37 cents for middling qualities and between two and three hundred bales ment, in which his Majesty had spoken of all the difficulties that had been encountered before the approval of the allies (the several still nominally independent princes, dukes, grand dukes and free cities of North Germany) had heen obtained; also to the further fact, stated by the King, that it is necessary that the Constitution must be ratified before the 18th day of market, materially contributed to the general depression. The supply we sufficient to meet ordinary requirements, but the greater portion of the buyers were decidedly The supply we sufficient to meet ordinary requirements, but the greater portion of the buyers were decidedly averse to or rating unless influenced to do so by more liberal comessions on the part of holders than the latter were disposed to grant. Hence the sales have been restricted, amounting at the close to bardly 200 bales—including 1200 by one broker—at very irregular but lower prices, the market closing too unsettled to admit of definite quotations, which we accordingly pretermit. Six brokers participated in the business. The demand at present seems to be confined to the higher descriptions, which are rather source in the market. next August, on which day the agreement of the allies expires; the compact being provisional and only binding them for one year. Count BISMARCK entreated the members to bear in mind the great importance of their position, and the precarious conditions on which depends the peace, welfare, and future prosperity of their common country. He begged them to waive, for the present at least, all minor differences, and put their shoulders to the great wheel of State, and cooperate heartily with the allies for the accomplishment of the one great desire of the people—the unity of Germany. He promised them that just so soon as there was a reasonable degree of certainty that this Constitution would be adopted, and the North German Confederation could be looked upon as a fixed fact, the prayer of the Southern States should be taken into consideration, and the entire German people be once more a political as well as an ethnological unit. These plain and simple words produced a visible impression upon nearly all present, and

MISCELLANEOUS. CHEROKEE PILLS Or Female Regulator,

But a still more powerful means for quieting opposition BISMARCK expects to find in form-united Germany to the people. In this, as your readers will doubtless remember, he is well seconded by the Prime Minister of Bavaria,

Prince Hohenlohe, the leading Statesman in South Germany, who boldly advocates a decidedly Prussian and anti-gallic policy. There is, of course, a great deal of jealousy in these Southern States of the supremacy of Prussia, and all propositions for a more close alliance with that kingdom have hitherto met with but little favor. But facts and circumstances that have lately come to light will, in all probability, soon change the course of public opinion; in fact have already done so. The recent publication of the French "Yellow Book" has created a perfect storm of popular indignation, for it has disclosed the fact, unknown before.

that the Governments of Bavaria, Wurtemberg and Hesse, last year, during the war, implored the aid of France against Prussia, This was too much. The people of Bavaria and Wurtemberg may not like to become Prussians, but it is certain that they would infinitely prefer remaining

Germans to being made to eat frogs all the remainder of their days. The publication of this diplomatic correspondence has been of great assistance to Count BISMARCK and his ally, Prince Houenlous. The plenipotentiaries of the four Southern States, met in Stuttgart, and after two days deliberations closed their conference, and as a result of their action, a treaty will be offered to Prussia, proosing an offensive and defensive alliance, for the integrity of Germany. The removal of the Zollverein will doubtless be the next step, and then the admission of deputies into the Parliament will finally consumate the proposed

Among the chief points of excellence of the Chickering Pianos, of which speak the renowned artists in their congratulatory testimonials to the Mesers Chickering, are the greatest possible depth, richness and volume of tone, combined with a rare brilliancy, cleaness and perfect evenness throughout the entire scale; and, above all, a surprising duration of sound, the pure and sympathetic quality of which never changes under the most delicate or powerful touch.

They are unrivalled for their singing qualities and fo the harmonious roundness of their tone. There is a perfect homogeneity throughout all the registers. The up, or notes are remarkable for a clearness and purity which I do not find in any other instrument, while the base is distinguished for power without harshness, and for a magnificent sonority.

Your Planes are superior to any I have ever seen in this country or in Europe. THE WATER OF THIS SPRING IS BELIEVED TO be unequalled by that of any other in the far-famed valley of Suratoga. Its virtues are such as have secured it the high encomiums of all who have used it, possessing, as it does, in an eminent degree, cathartic, diuretic, alterative and tonic qualities.

I have been for a year or more past in the habit of taking the water of the "Excelsior" Spring of Saratoga. Accustomed during the great portion or my invalid lite to use the different waters of the several fountains which that marginable valley, dependent, indeed, boil up along that remarkable valley, dependent, indeed, upon them for much of the comfort I enjoy, I am satis upon them for much of the comfort I enjoy, I am sampled that the Excelsior Water is as well adapted as any other among them, if not more so, to the purposes for which they are generally employed. It is very agreeable, strongly impregnated with the carbonic acid, lively and sparkling. * * * I can heartily and conscientiously recommend it to all who need a gentle cathartic and directic.

THE SALE OF THE PLANTATION BIT-TEES is without precedent in the history of the world. There is no secret in the matter. They are at once the most speedy, strengthening health-restorm ever discovered. It requires but a single trial to understand this. Their purity can always be relied upon. They are composed of the celebrated Callasya Bark, Cascarilla-Bark, Dandelion, Chamomile Flowers, Lavender Snake-root, Caraway, Corlander, Burdock, S.-T.-1860-X. &c. They are especially recommended to clergyman, pub cspeakers, and persons of literary habits and sedentary life, who require free digestion, a relish for food,

They purify, strengthen and invigorate. They create a healthy appetite. They are an antidote to change of water and diet. They overceme effects of dissipation and late hours. They strengthen the system and enliven the mind. They prevent missmatic and intermittent fevers. They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
